

WALK-IN DISTANCE

August 30 - September 21

Tutu Gallery, somewhere in Bedstuy Brooklyn

Tutu Gallery is excited to announce its second exhibition, WALK-IN DISTANCE, a two-person show featuring paintings by Elise Warfield and Xingze Li. Interdisciplinary in nature, the works selected incorporate materials such as acrylic medium, spray paint, sequin, and charcoal. Nuanced surface quality illustrates how domestic habitats interact with an array of factors including time, perspective, social construct and one's inner turmoil. Elise is interested in the facade of suburban households and the disquieting social norms hidden beneath, while Xingze preserves fleeting sceneries, blurring the line between reality and one's psychological landscape. These paintings review familiar places in our memory, until a strangeness unfolds in front of the eye.
